

The 23rd Judicial Circuit was created on December 3, 2012, when DeKalb and Kendall counties split from Kane County to create a new circuit. According to the 2010 census DeKalb and Kendall County had a total combined population of 219,896 people. DeKalb County is the home of Northern Illinois University.